Electron Transport to Nitrogenase in Azotobacter Vinelandii J. Klugkist, 1985 Chemistry and Biochemistry of Flavoenzymes Franz Muller, 2019-07-22 Chemistry and Biochemistry of Flavoenzymes summarizes the present knowledge of the chemical and physical properties of free flavin modified flavins occurring in nature and deazaflavin This information forms the fundamental basis for understanding the catalytic properties of flavoenzymes Flavoproteins involved in transport electron transfer oxidation dehydrogenation and hydroxylation reactions are discussed with respect to their biochemical and biophysical properties The book presents the catalytic mechanisms of the flavoproteins in detail and where available three dimensional structures and molecular biology data are included The medical aspects of free and protein bound flavin are also briefly discussed Chemistry and Biochemistry of Flavoenzymes is an essential reference source for chemists biochemists toxicologists biologists pharmacologists and researchers in the pharmaceutical industry Bioorganometallic Chemistry Wolfgang Weigand, Ulf-Peter Apfel, 2020-06-08 Bioorganometallic Chemistry is an excellent introduction to this transdisciplinary field which is straddled with biochemistry medicine and organometallic chemistry The book is a comprehensive review on the latest advances of this rapidly growing area as well as historical background and future trends revealing a tremendous potential of bioorganometallic compounds as novel drug candidates and diagnostic tools

Catalysts for Nitrogen Fixation Barry E. Smith, Raymond L. Richards, William E. Newton, 2013-03-20 Biological nitrogen fixation provides more than 50% of the total annual input of the essential element nitrogen to world agriculture Thus it is of immense agronomic importance and critical to food supplies particularly in developing countries This book with chapters authored by internationally renowned experts provides a comprehensive and detailed account of the fascinating history of the process including the surprising discoveries of molybdenum independent nitrogenases and superoxide dependent nitrogenase a review of Man s attempts to emulate the biological process most successfully with the commercially dominant Haber Bosch process and the current state of the understanding art with respect to the enzymes called nitrogenases responsible for biological nitrogen fixation The initial chapters use a historical approach to the biological and industrial processes followed by an overview of assay methodologies The next set of chapters focuses on the classical enzyme the molybdenum nitrogenase and details its biosynthesis structure composition and mechanism of action as well as detailing both how variants of its two component proteins are constructed by recombinant DNA technology and how computational techniques are being applied The sophisticated chemical modelling of the metal containing clusters in the enzyme is reviewed next followed by a description of the two molybdenum independent nitrogenases first the vanadium containing enzyme and then the iron only nitrogenase together with some thoughts as to why they exist Then follows an up to date treatment of the clearly non classical properties of the superoxide dependent nitrogenase which more closely resembles molybdenum containing hydroxylases and related enzymes like nitrate reductase that it does the other nitrogenases Each chapter contains an extensive list of references This book is the self contained first volume of a comprehensive seven volume series No other available work provides the up to date and in depth coverage of this series and this volume This book is intended to serve as an indispensable reference work for all scientists working in this area including agriculture and the closely related metals in biology area to assist students to enter this challenging area of research and to provide science administrators easy access to vital relevant information
