Getting Development Right E. Paus, 2013-09-19 The celebratory tone about the emergence of the BRICs and the improved growth in Sub Saharan Africa and Latin America during the 2000s obscures the reality that for large parts of the developing world the development challenges are more acute than ever before After three decades of Washington Consensus policies deepening globalization and China's and India's increasing competitiveness in ever more goods and services many developing countries are now facing three critical challenges how to engender a transformation of the production structure that creates many more productive jobs how to make growth more inclusive and how to stimulate a growth process compatible with environmental sustainability This book brings together development scholars and practitioners from multiple academic disciplines and policy perspectives to analyze important facets of this triple challenge to explore interconnections among them and suggest strategies for overcoming the challenges in the current age of globalization Three features distinguish this book from other current works in the field First this book looks beyond the current global crisis and short term growth opportunities and analyzes the challenges to development from a long term perspective Second books on the barriers to development tend to concentrate on one of the three challenges e.g. Barbier 2010 A Global Green New Deal on environmental sustainability Cimoli Dosi Stiglitz 2009 Industrial Policy and Development on structural transformation and Milanovic 2011 The Have and the Have Nots on exclusion This book in contrast brings the three challenges together to emphasize that they are interlinked and that strategies and policies must begin to recognize these interconnections to address different aspects of the challenges concomitantly Finally the contributors to the book include some of the most renowned development thinkers of our time
