Extremely Loud And Incredibly Close Quotes:

Trauma in Jonathan Safran Foer's "Extremely Loud and Incredibly Close" Michelle Klein, 2016-08-08 Seminar paper from the year 2015 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 2.0 University of Koblenz Landau Anglistik course 20th Century Novels language English abstract Trauma seems to me being an essential topic to discuss in school as everybody sooner or later has to deal with loss or already dealt with it in the past As every student can identify with this potential challenge it is important for them to get to know different ways of dealing with trauma Foer's story even reveals that coping with trauma is able to bring people from different races and ages together Even if people's trauma is caused by different events there will be a connection between these people Moreover it would be possible to teach this topic interdisciplinary and interdisciplinarily in ethics or religious education classes As everyone could be affected by trauma I determined this topic for my planned lesson The reason for choosing the subtopics namely inventing and heavy boots referring to Oskar Grandfather Schell's aphasia and the doorknobs and finally suppressing and the feeling of being needed with regard to Grandmother Schell reveal concreteness for the main topic I decided to teach the topic by group work to facilitate the exchange of experiences without the danger to be exposed in front of the class I thought this is the best way as the students can talk about how they perceived the character and his or her ability to deal with the trauma they have gone through The team work is followed by a presentation and discussion of this work to ensure all students have reached the same level of knowledge Moreover it is important have the ability to emphasise with this character and change their perspectives or contribute their own experiences with loss to explain the others why somebody could show such behaviour I will analyse the topic by a characterisation following by a psychoanalytic approach For one it is important to get to know why people are behaving differently after experiencing loss and second it is illuminating for the students to become aware that trauma can be responsible for the person concerned being left with an altered personality The lesson I have planned relates to both characterisation and psychoanalytic approaches After the lesson the students should have general knowledge about trauma and its effects Furthermore it should be clear that trauma can only be overcome by going through two phases which build up upon each other

Extremely Loud & Incredibly Close Jonathan Safran Foer, 2006 A new novel by the author of Everything Is Illuminated introduces Oskar Schell the nine year old son of a man killed in the World Trade Center bombing who searches the city for a lock that fits a black key his father left behind

Jonathan Safran Foer emerged as one of the most original writers of his generation with his best selling debut novel Everything Is Illuminated. Now with humor, tenderness and awe he confronts the traumas of our recent history. What he discovers is solace in that most human quality: imagination. Meet Oskar Schell, an inventor, Francophile, tambourine player, Shakespearean actor, jeweler, pacifist, correspondent with Stephen Hawking and Ringo Starr. He is nine years old. And he is on an urgent secret search through the five boroughs of New York. His mission is to find the lock that fits a mysterious key belonging to his father who died in the World Trade Center on 9/11. An inspired, innocent Oskar is alternately endearing, exasperating and hilarious as he careens from Central Park to Coney Island to Harlem on his search. Along the way he is always dreaming up inventions to keep those he loves safe from harm. What about a birdseed shirt to let you fly away? What if you could actually hear everyone's heartbeat? His goal is hopeful, but the past speaks a loud warning in stories of those who've lost loved ones before. As Oskar roams New York, he encounters a motley assortment of humanity who are all survivors in their own way. He befriends a 103-year-old war reporter, a tour guide who never leaves the Empire State Building, and lovers enraptured or scorned. Ultimately, Oskar ends his journey where it began at his father's grave. But now he is accompanied by the silent stranger who has been renting the spare room of his grandmother's apartment. They are there to dig up his father's empty coffin.

This is a story that unfolds from inside the mind of Oskar Schell, an inventive eleven-year-old New Yorker whose discovery of a key in the belongings of his father who died in the World Trade Center on 9/11 sets him off on an urgent search for the lock it opens. As Oskar's quest takes him across the city, he encounters an eclectic assortment of people, survivors in their own way who help uncover links to his father, preserving a connection to the man who helped Oskar confront his fears about the noisy, dangerous world around him.
