,1983 The Cartesian Innateness of all Ideas as the Source and Panacea of True Knowledge Evarist Okpala,2024-11-07 Academic Paper from the year 2024 in the subject Philosophy Theoretical Realisation Science Logic Language language English abstract The purpose of this work is to give credence to the admonition of St Augustine who admonished seekers of the truth to look inwards for that is where the truth lies This admonition was adhered to by Descartes when he decided to reject all prior submissions of philosophy as well as the sciences in order to proceed methodically towards arriving at the truth which will not be further doubted Thus the work aims at exposing how the pure intellect and the ideas innate in it can give us certitude in knowledge in the light of Descartes philosophy Descartes intervention is quite significant in exposing that prior to his search for a strong foundation for the establishment of philosophy all the claims that hitherto existed could not solve the problem of doubt Such that none of the submissions could claim to have satisfied man s natural craving for the truth and the truth cannot be two Thus this study is quite significant for it will try to assert once more that the truth is without doubt and it can be reached irrespective of whether Descartes did a good job or not in his quest for the indubitable truth And that as Descartes believes it can be arrived at more securely by looking inwards in the man s intellect which is the place not corrupted as the changing world of the senses It will also mean that for the intellect to hold such truths which cannot change it follows that there exists a source which is greater than the human intellect from where comes the truths that exist in the human mind Descartes thoughts around these will be properly highlighted to show how relevant they are in today s world especially in the understanding of man as well as God the source of everything that exists alongside man The American Hebrew ,1927 A Sacramental Life Bernard J.
