Church's conversations about the issue in light of Methodism's historic contests over the leadership of African Americans and women to see what can be learned from these earlier periods of change Using the uniform context of the Methodist General Conference where denominational policy is set the book analyzes transcripts of floor debates in key years of these struggles letting those who argued for and against the changes speak for themselves Those arguments are read through the lens of French sociologist Pierre Bourdieu whose theory offers a sophisticated model that goes deeper than simple resistance to change in articulating a dialectic between social structures and agents that predisposes both to reproduce existing power relationships This interdisciplinary historical study seeks to move beyond conscious motivations for the exclusion of these three groups and uncover deeply embedded misrecognized social dynamics In exploring these groups' stories this book examines who holds power in Methodist churches how changes in authority structures occur and why it is such a long and painful process
