Medical Humanities, Sociology and the Suffering Self Wendy Lowe, 2020-12-22 Following criticisms of the traditionally polarized view of understanding suffering through either medicine or social justice Lowe makes a compelling argument for how the medical humanities can help to go beyond the traditional biographical and epistemic breaks to see into the nature and properties of suffering and what is at stake Lowe demonstrates through analysis of major healthcare workforce issues and incidence of burnout how key policies and practices influence healthcare education and experiences of both patients and health professionals By including first person narratives from health professionals as a tool and resource she illustrates how dominant ideas about the self enter practice as a refusal of suffering Demonstrating the relationship between personal experience theory and research Lowe argues for a pedagogy of suffering that shows how the moral anguish implicit in suffering is an ethical response of the emergent self This is an important read for all those interested in medical humanities health professional education person centred care and the sociology of health and illness     The Socratic Handbook Michael Noah Weiss,2015 In this book 34 renowned philosophical practitioners from 20 different countries present a variety of dialogue methods for philosophical practice which have never before been published in such a compact and compiled form By having Socrates and his method of maieutics the art of midwifery of the soul as he called it as one of its main sources of inspiration the book offers different methodological approaches in order to prompt people to wonder to reflect to change perspective and to think differently in short to make people philosophize about life and the way they live it Series Report of the Global Ethic Initiative Austria Schriftenreihe der Initiative Weltethos Osterreich Vol 9 Subject Philosophy     Relating Leslie A.
