

The background of the entire image is a photograph of a long, straight dirt road stretching into the distance. The road is flanked by flat, open land, possibly a field or a coastal plain. The sky is a pale, hazy yellow, suggesting a sunrise or sunset. The overall mood is one of solitude and a long journey.

Finding My Way Memoir Of A Journey Through Cancer:

Finding My Way Mike Dellosso, 2015-12-15 This is Mike's story And you know what It's your story too This is so much more than one man's battle with cancer It's more than one man struggling to find meaning in suffering It's more than one man's victory This is for all of us We all battle with something we all struggle we all wrestle and question we all suffer And we all can be victorious Someday So as you read the story that unfolds in the pages of this book please don't read it as a spectator Walk this road too make it your own journey your own battle your own quest to find the meaning in suffering to find God when you feel alone to find the Light in the midst of deep darkness Make this your story You may not have cancer you may never have battled that particular monster but you've battled a monster You've struggled you've prayed and argued with God and cried in His arms You've suffered in some way In March of 2008 Mike was diagnosed with colon cancer He was thirty five healthy married with three beautiful daughters He was not a candidate for cancer And yet there it was What you have here is a compilation of Mike's journaling interspersed with some other thoughts he's had since that awful wonderful year You'll find a chronological order of events from diagnosis to first doctor visits to surgery to chemo to more surgeries It's all there But more than a record of events you'll find a spiritual journey that will resonate with anyone who has been touched by a trial or suffering or sorrow or pain There is brutal honesty in these pages Because we've all been touched by suffering in one way or another this book is valuable for anyone Hopefully you'll find some hope here some joy maybe some laughter some enlightenment some inspiration And hopefully through the story in these pages you'll come to see God in a different light

Peace in the Face of Cancer Lynn Eib, 2017-04-04 Millions of us are living in the shadow of cancer Some are hoping to beat the odds and become cancer free while others know they are facing cancer for the long haul And even more of us are standing by someone with a cancer diagnosis and feeling helpless as we grapple with the uncertainty it brings Whether the cancer is considered in remission cured or chronic it is possible to find peace as we face it In this beautiful giftable book cancer patient advocate Lynn Eib shares how to live well from the moment of diagnosis through the rest of life She weaves the story of her own experience as a long time cancer survivor and those of others around the world into these hope filled pages You'll discover how to bring God's peace into your own home and heart regardless of your or your loved one's medical prognosis

Surviving Alex Patricia A. Roos, 2024-05-17 In 2015 Patricia Roos's twenty five year old son Alex died of a heroin overdose Turning her grief into action Roos a professor of sociology at Rutgers University began to research the social factors and institutional failures that contributed to his death Surviving Alex tells her moving story and outlines the possibilities of a more compassionate and effective approach to addiction treatment Weaving together a personal narrative and a sociological perspective Surviving Alex movingly describes how even children from good families fall prey to addiction and recounts the hellish toll it takes on families Drawing from interviews with Alex's friends family members therapists teachers and police officers as well as files from his stays in hospitals rehab facilities and jails Roos paints a compelling portrait of a young man whose life veered between happiness anxiety success and despair And as she explores how a punitive system failed her son she calls for a community of action that would improve care for substance users and reduce addiction realigning public health policy to address the overdose crisis A Journey Around Our America Louis G.

Mendoza,2012-09-15 Immigration and the growing Latino population of the United States have become such contentious issues that it can be hard to have a civil conversation about how Latinoization is changing the face of America So in the summer of 2007 Louis Mendoza set out to do just that Starting from Santa Cruz California he bicycled 8 500 miles around the entire perimeter of the country talking to people in large cities and small towns about their experiences either as immigrants or as residents who have welcomed or not Latino immigrants into their communities He presented their enlightening sometimes surprising firsthand accounts in Conversations Across Our America Talking About Immigration and the Latinoization of the United States Now in A Journey Around Our America Mendoza offers his own account of the visceral emotional intellectual and spiritual dimensions of traveling the country in search of a deeper broader understanding of what it means to be Latino in the United States in the twenty first century With a blend of first and second person narratives blog entries poetry and excerpts from conversations he had along the way Mendoza presents his own aspirations for and critique of social relations political ruminations personal experiences and emotional vulnerability alongside the stories of people from all walks of life including students activists manual laborers and intellectuals His conversations and his experiences as a Latino on the road reveal the multilayered complexity of Latino life today as no academic study or newspaper report ever could Finding My Way Martha Hyer,1990 The Twelfth Raven Doris Brett,2014-03-03 When poet Doris Brett s fit
